Many Christians are understandably confused about what the Bible teaches concerning Christ's Second Coming; think about it, when did you last read a scripturally faithful book or listen to a truly Holy Spirit anointed sermon on the subject? This lack of teaching and preaching is probably due to the fact that many church leaders are just as confused as the members of their congregation, or they erroneously believe that Eschatology (the study of end things) should be avoided at all costs because it only leads to arguments and divisions within the church. Consequently, and sadly, there has arisen a whole generation of Christians who are being deprived of what should be their Glorious Hope (Titus 2:13).

During the course of the conference we will be focusing on what the Bible explicitly and indisputably teaches concerning Christ's Return and how His bride, the church, is being prepared for that great and glorious consummation, when He presents her to Himself without spot, wrinkle, or blemish (Ephesians 5:27).

“The Second Coming is not supposed to make you stop what you’re doing to wait for the Lord’s return. And neither should it motivate you to focus all your attention on the events and political developments of this world. Instead, it should prompt you to holiness as you direct your heart toward Christ, whose coming every believer anticipates with joy.” John MacArthur
